Sneek, do you think the tri-pack is spacious enough for waders with the boots on the D-rings at the base? I like that approach because it essentially has a vest built in, but i guess a traditional backpack has enough pockets it can hold the essentials from my vest as well.

my nearest car will be 5 hours away at home, as freshman parking passes cost $500. The backpack will also serve as a means to store my gear in my dorm, so i can just "grab-and-go" to the water and gear up there.

I'll have to check out some of those discount sites.
