

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : To kayak, or not to kayak in the surf?

Re: To kayak, or not to kayak in the surf?

Author: : ebroesicke

Date: : 2013/8/1 17:22:40

URL:

getting out usually isn't the problem, its coming in. I have fished in my 14' SOT for the past 7 years. up to a mile off the beach in jersey, the Chesapeake bay bridges at night, lehigh river, etc. The advice given about leaning into a wave is sound, but if the wave is steep, like it can be OBX, the nose dig in thing can get ya. To answer your question of is it an advantage...could be. I know there are guys in kayaks down there that will take your bait out and drop it off behind the sand bar, for like $5. but then again if the fish are in the slough between the bar and the beach, no need. it just depends on where the fish are. kayak fishing can be a lot of fun. don 't worry about the sharks, they are everywhere anyways.