Stocker and does it really matter? If you had fun catching him, that's all that matters.

Not knowledgeable enough to chime in as to "stocked vs wild", but have to add a +1 to the second part of Kray's reply.

Aside from having a self-sustaining wild population being a "good thing" and important, what's the real difference? You have fun catching a fish. Hell, I enjoy just having time on the water and look on hooking up as a bonus.
