Methinks we've created a fish catching monster!

BTW - there is brookies in the LL. I caught one this year that was stranded in a small pool after a high water event. Net only, as I didn't have his phone number. 😊

There's a lot of stocked brookies in there, but that one sure looked like a wild brookie to me. In past electroshock surveys, wild brookies were found in the stream.

At the rate you're going, I'm sure you'll catch one soon.
