

---

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Brookies in the LL?????

Re: Brookies in the LL?????

Author: : Stagger_Lee

Date: : 2013/8/2 18:10:46

URL:

Quote:

WTT wrote:

Sorry Andrew but that's a brown trout. Remember light background=brown trout, dark background=brook trout.

I was just happy to bring another one in. Is it wild or do they stock browns in there?

Quote:

phiend wrote:

I am leaving now. Should get there about 6:30.

That is a nice fish. What did he eat?

I was jazzed .. he put up a nice fight, ate a trico. Good luck tonight.

Quote:

HA wrote:

Methinks we've created a fish catching monster!

Very positive/fun week for me and that other thread really helped me put some things together (in my head) on how to hook'em, cast/mend, find, etc. After the hatch, b4 I left, I lost two others but I have a better understanding what to do and just have to continue 'working' at it. Worked on my mending and doing what many of u gents reccomended, the reach cast. When I did it somewhat correctly, was very helpful. Didn't even go for the nymph box today.

I used ur PM as guidance; the hatch was decent this AM and saw where they were rising. I replied from my fone but just want to make it went the thru? The one abt "tomorrow being today and today being ysterday" or whatever it was that I exactly wrote ....