

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : DCNR at Valley Forge

Re: DCNR at Valley Forge

Author: : JasonS

Date: : 2013/8/2 18:18:37

URL:

I disagree. There's a ton of big fish habitat, from undercut banks to root wads. There's enough food to support a pretty massive biomass. The problem is, that biomass is made up of an over abundance of small fish. Start removing those fish and you'll start to see larger fish on average, imho.