

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : west branch of the deleware

Re: west branch of the deleware

Author: : vregular

Date: : 2013/8/3 14:19:40

URL:

White Fly. I don't think it does, but there might be some stragglers. However, I've hit the white fly before on the Main. This was years ago, before the powers that be could throttle the West Branch release like they can now. This particular time, there was 1500cfs of coldwater (mid-to-high 40s) all the way down the West. And so the Main was very cold well downstream. We were fishing below Bouchouxville when you could drive the RR tracks, and we hit it. It was amazing, and the bows were gluttons. Fishing into the glare was fantastic. Post spawn shad were also eating them off the top. The good ole daze!!!