
Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Wild or stocked?

Re: Wild or stocked?

Author: : PatrickC

Date: : 2013/8/3 22:07:37

URL:

May 14 was when she was caught. I was shocked how intense her coloration was. This was caught on the upper creek above the reservoir which stays cool and the fish holdover.

There is a section of the lower creek (below the reservoir) that is stocked with some brood stock every couple of years in the Winter. The fish do not make it through the Summer due to water temps.

So, in support of your comments, here is a 21" buck that is responsible for some of the genetics in the upper creek. A real difference when that wild diet is introduced.

Attach file:

 ClearForkMay232011016-1.jpg (34.64 KB)

