If you'd like further info on Dusty's whereabouts - please PM me.

Regarding Yellow Breeches fly shop.....I've been a fan and customer for 30 years, and still am. The shop (as we have discussed here before) is under new ownership. The gear selection may not be all that we'd like, but please be patient as the new owner gets his legs settled. Taking over a small business takes time.

I'll continue to go there.

(In the interests of full disclosure, it should be noted that I have a small business interest with this shop but my experience as a satisfied customer predates this interest)
