

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Aluminum for traction

Re: Aluminum for traction

Author: : albatross

Date: : 2013/8/4 16:37:54

URL:

Third trip yesterday with the new boots and soles (Little J). I still like the performance of the aluma-trax sole, but the durability leaves a lot to be desired. The rivets failed on plate nearest the heel on both the left and right boot resulting in the aluminum plate falling off. Back to felt I guess?

The boots (Korkers KGB) on the other hand are really impressing me. too soon to tell on the durability of the boot, but the comfort and support is fantastic. Oh, and if one sole doesn't work out I can always swap it for another...