I was away last week and I'm just now getting a chance to respond. First off, the credit to the success of this event goes to everyone that attended, PERIOD. All I really did was sit by my computer and organize, which by the way, I enjoyed. The information sharing and just as important the information absorbing was great to see. It never ceases to amaze me how newbies become sponges when around us so called experienced guys. DJS said it best about paying it forward. I think I can speak for Dog, H-A, as well as myself when I say seeing people like DJS, Cathy and JT take newbies under their wing, is about as rewarding as it gets!

So, where I sincerely appreciate all the expressions of thanks on the board, I got all the thanks I needed watching how much you all enjoyed this event. I REALLY and TRULY cannot wait until next year!
