There is a book called Flyfishing Georgia. And guidebooks for the Smokies, if you're planning on going there.

As someone said, get the DeLorme Atlas. There is also a new series of atlases by National Geographic. I'm not sure which is best.

If you are going to be fishing National Forests or National Parks, order the maps from those agencies.

And check to see if Trails Illustrated (National Geographic) has maps for the areas you are going to fish. They are super good maps, generally better than the agency maps.
