IMO it makes the family look just as bad as the company. Nobody forced them to sign and settle out of court. But I have a feeling there is more to it than that. It's just way too odd.

But you know what? If they screwed up my well and property value, I would be a major pain in the ass to them. But if they turned around and offered me 75,000 an acre for my farm with the stipulation that we keep our mouths shut, I would ask, "where do I sign?"
