Howdy , and welcome to this place. You've made a wise decision by joining this group. The folks that make up this group at some point decide to get together once every spring at a campgrounds they all meet up and it's called the JAM. I'm a near 60 year old ex Steelworker who lost my left leg below the knee in an accident in a steelmill and attended my second JAM this spring. After a long drive and some fishing and a few beers i fell asleep in a chair by the campfire. When i woke up , hours later i assume , i fully expected to be either painted or tied to the chair or worse yet robbed!!!! But this group of folks are some of the greatest , most decent and admirable people on the face of the Earth. If any of you have the chance to attend one of the JAMs do so with the knowledge that you are going to meet some of the GREATEST FOLK ANYWHERE.....You all know who you are.....heh. I LOVE YINZ ALL , Osprey.
