Phiend.....first off let me say welcome to the board. Next let me say that having been doing this since i was 5 years old if you can tie flies you can build your own rod from blanks and accessories which can either be purchased from many local fly shops or mail ordered from several of the "Big Name" companies that have mail order. I don't know if you are a fly tier or not but if you are then you know the feeling of satisfaction you get from catching those first fish you catch on your own flies.....same goes for the first rods you build and the most important thing for a young beginning fly angler is price.....you can get a whole lot more bang for your buck if you DIY.....not to mention a whole lot of satisfaction!!!!
