all lake Ontario tribs (and Erie tribs in ny) will get fish. timing is more important than location. a rule of thumb is the larger the river or stream, the earlier the fish will run. a tie breaker between similar sized streams would be the stream furthest east will get an earlier run. the more you fish and more streams you check out, the more comfortable and knowledgeable you will become. getting a guide to show you smaller streams really isn't worth it because they either won't do it, or they will take you to a somewhat lesser known stream you could find yourself that is still crowded.
