I bought one of these Go-Lite Quest 80L packs for a mule deer hunt here in Nevada and have since found that it also makes for a killer hike-in fishing pack:

If you are willing go up $150 in price, it's an unreal hiker that transfers weight into your hips. It's also incredibly light (right around 3 lbs. including the internal frame), will hold everything including road cases, waders, boots (either internally or on the external strap plate to avoid getting mud inside of the main compartment), plenty of food, 3-liter water bladder, fly boxes, and on and on...
