

---

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Oak Orchard, NY

Re: Oak Orchard, NY

Author: : odizz17

Date: : 2013/8/12 16:24:47

URL:

You guys think an 8 weight is too light for salmon? I've got a 9' #8 TFO with a Lamson Konic reel. I know the reel will hold up, but worried about not being able to control the fish once hooked. This is my first year attempting salmon with a fly rod. I've used this mostly for pike, bass, and steelies. Not sure if I wanna drop a few hundred on a rod I'll use 2 or 3 months a year. If I need a heavier rod, any suggestions on one that won't break the bank? Thanks in advance, can't wait to get up there. Gonna start early sept, from what I've seen DSR on SR, has a few fresh fish already