

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Poconos or North Central?

Poconos or North Central?

Author: : Dobeitz

Date: : 2013/8/15 1:23:27

URL:

First I want to thank everyone for all of the help with the SMB stream advice. Things started out a little rocky but I think I'm getting the hang of those tough little guys and exploring this new state of mine has been great so far.

So, looks like I'll have next Mon and Tues off work next week and I need to put the WBs and poppers away b/c I need to get into some trout outside of Valley creek and SE PA. Still being a little on the warm side, I can not decide on what area I want to go for. I see that the flows in the north/central area of the state are still good but water temps kinda borderline high. Of course the reputation in those areas has my interest. However, I'm also open to the north east area as well.

I'm not set on trophy hunting the whole time at all. Just want to hopefully get into some decent size fish with some nice scenery - my trophy chasing days ended when I moved from Colorado (you're always shoulder to shoulder in trophy water anyway). I definitely plan on camping rather than stayin in a hotel if this affects anyone's advice.

Again, this site and its members have been outstanding so far. Thank you.

PS: If this sort of post belongs elsewhere in the forum let me know