

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Taking Water Temp: Depth/duration?

Taking Water Temp: Depth/duration?

Author: : Six-Gun

Date: : 2013/8/15 15:04:48

URL:

I just picked up a thermometer to check the water temps in my local creek. It's a fairly elevated water body (around 6500ft.) and the water is still pretty chilly to the touch, but I still want to know for sure what the temps are along the stream.

That said, how deep and for how long should I be setting this thing in the water for an accurate reading? What's the warmest water you guys will fish for trout? Thanks for your help.