

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Warmwater and saltwater rod choice

Re: Warmwater and saltwater rod choice

Author: : jay348

Date: : 2013/8/15 17:21:07

URL:

I'll agree w/ FI here. I picked up a 9' 8wt 3 summers ago and it's by far my most-used rod...usually bass, but it's handled carp, (small) stripers, and one decent musky without any problems. Easy to cast all day as well.

As far as prices go, keep an eye out for "last year's models" across the major brands. It's usually a seasonal occurrence, but I don't know the industry well enough to pinpoint when. Lots of good deals plus its still a new rod with a warranty (this varies by brand obv.).