River should be nice for Sunday. Running at 150 at Archbald, 206 at Old Forge(can't believe it is only 50 cfs difference with that distance, but oh well) right now, down to low 50s next two nights, max high 80 degrees. Once it hits 100 at Archbald starts to get a little low, but not unfishable. Taylor trail section was supposedly just finished if you are looking to fish the lower river. Should be cold enough that far down with cold nights.
