

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Small Warm Water Stream Fishing

Re: Small Warm Water Stream Fishing

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2013/8/15 20:50:15

URL:

Good stuff.

I think you'll find that small streams don't harbor many large bass. The ones I fish rarely produce bass over about 14" but this isn't always true and bigger fish can be caught.....but I'm happy with the large numbers of bass in the 8-12" range. Fallfish are scrappy and fun too.

Just a few years ago there were fairly few members of this forum talking about warm water species at all, much less fishing in small streams for bass and panfish. I'm pleased to see this is changing and more of us are hitting small streams for WW species (guys pursuing carp have greatly increased too). A lot of FFers don't know what they're missing.