I'm not sure how far down the rod you broke the tip off, but a tip top and some adhesive shouldn't cost more than $5-$10 and all you really need to put it on is a lighter...

I just finished my first rod, and I have to say the hardest part was committing to applying the epoxy. Any money I saved was canceled out on the effort, but it I enjoyed it, even though there were times where I might have cursed the process :)
