Just want to hopefully get into some decent size fish with some nice scenery - my trophy chasing days ended when I moved from Colorado (you're always shoulder to shoulder in trophy water anyway).

If you are used to Colorado fishing, then north central PA is going to be very disappointing in my opinion. I would go just about anywhere in the state other than north central PA. Based upon your mention of Valley, I assume you are in south eastern PA. To go to north central PA you will have to pass many, many better fishing spots.

Really? I have to disagree, there are LESS quality trout streams in the SEPA than in NC PA.

and when it comes to fishing for trout in a setting quintessential of what most people think of when they think of a trout stream, the # of streams in NC PA and NEPA trounce what is available in SEPA in my opinion. I mean the Happy Valley area streams alone trump all of SEPA

Not saying that good trout fishing can't be found in SEPA but its abundance is not greater than what's available in NCPA (and NEPA.)
