Good thread. You actually got me thinking about the state definition of "harvest": are you allowed to catch and release on non-approved trout waters outside of the regular season, or are you completely prohibited from wetting a line out of season? In other words, I will be back in PA around October 13th. I wanted to fish for wild browns and brookies, but have zero intention of keeping them. Do I have such an option on non-approved waters or do I have to stick to stocked rivers and streams?
