An interesting fact about the monster bears that live on the Pocono plateau is that most of them get huge compared to the rest of the state because of the swamps. However, there is a ton of feeding from, well, for lack of a better word, yuppies, in these areas.

The PGC traps these bears and often relocates them to Sullivan and I think upper Luzerne, Wyoming counties, at the beginning of the huge expanse of state forests. Well, these bears are coming back to their homeland, and actually crossing the Susquehanna back, lol. Guess they like the donuts and bird seed to much to eek out a living on cherry, beech, and oak of the mountains.
