Stopped by the Little J today on the way back from dropping off a kid to PSU for the fall term. Can't believe we are back on that doing that already.

More of an observation than a real report, but could help but get in the water for just a bit. Weather was cloudy and 72 degrees. Water was normal August low and gin clear. Strolled in for a bit and tried some terrestrial imitations up against the banks and the brush for a while.

Glad to get up on the stream, sorry send one off to school.
