Dear Phil,

Please be careful. You are walking a thin line very close to slander. You might end up with the Northfork Mafia knocking on your door. :)) Actually the flying pontoon has been repaired thanks to DaveS and a skilled welder. I've floated with Tom since the repair and it's almost like the boat is bionic...stronger and faster. I haven't used your boat w/ the platform but can't believe the platform is any better than what's on my boat. That Bronco Extreme is 11' long and has 2 bladders in the cover. If one ruptures, inflate the other and keep on trucking. Neat idea but it's not cheap.

When Brandon's boat blew, it was in the middle of a slow deep section. I was borrowing his lighter and we were bs-ing.....BOOM. We couldn't find a mark on the cover where he might have hit something but it just failed. I don't care for the nylon or cloth covers. They claim they are stronger but the only toons I've seen pop were cloth.
