I'll have to live vicariously through you guys this year as I know I won't get much fishing in. They'll all be here before we know it. I usually make a prediction of the first real run and this year it's going to be early. Tuesday Sept 17th will get the fish moving and in the streams permanently.

The fever is starting it's course and I'll be hitting the vise filling up my boxes anyway. Hitting Oak Orchard for the first time in Sept and hoping to make a trip or two to Erie in October.

I'm curious to see how the brown trout return this year. They've gotten better and better the last 3 years. I've still yet to land one. I've hooked a few and saw a good handful last year.
