

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Wiconisco Cr. Dauphin Co

Wiconisco Cr. Dauphin Co

Author: : odizz17

Date: : 2013/8/21 10:06:29

URL:

Anyone have any insight on this creek? Looking for some new water to throw a fly around in. I fished this a few years ago near the Ned Smith Center vicinity, and got a 20" stocked brookie. I remember little black stones coming off that day as well. Had fun with that haha. Haven't been back since. I know the creek (upper) has had some AMD issues in the past. Anyone know if this watershed holds anything over, or supports any wild fish? Or does it turn into a warm water fishery during the summer months? Not trying to spot burn, so if anyone would rather send a pm that's cool. I'm just getting bored fishing the same 4 creeks every month. Thanks in advance