Thanks again, especially for the quick responses! I'm always on the lookout for new waters, and with it being the end of summer, I usually limit the hiking and little brook fishing due to heavy overgrown stream side bushes and the heat. Lately I've been doing more tying than fishing, and that needs to stop lol. Maybe next weekend I'll try my luck in that area and see what I come across. I'll be sure to post a report whether or not I get into fish
