

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : guesing width of small streams from maps

Re: guesing width of small streams from maps

Author: : Heberly

Date: : 2013/8/21 22:03:37

URL:

I live 15 minutes from Klingaman's run. It's shown on my map as Klingaman's however I think it is in fact Klingerman's based on the Klingerman family heritage in the Mainville area. The lower half of Klingerman's was posted, or private land for some time, I think it still is? Furnace run, If I am recalling the name correctly, is clipped off the edge of your map, and is quite longer, and also contains a mild population of brook trout. Both are very tight quarters. A better option, would be to explore scotch run. Ten years ago, it was a fine native stream, really fine. However, its been stocked over, and developed near its headwaters as Hazleton starts to sprawl. As a side note, there is signage going up around the town of Catawissa, which states " you are now entering the Catawissa Creek watershed, home of a future blue ribbon trout stream".