

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Salmon River

Re: Salmon River

Author: : PhilC

Date: : 2013/8/22 10:37:33

URL:

Yes the salmons will hit flies at times...your best bet is when they're fresh but they're more aggressive and haven't been through the gauntlet of lead chuckers. DSR is a good bet but once they make it above staircase its probably less likely...

There's a lot more lining/flossing going on that some people realize, this goes for steel as well. If you go to the Altmar bend during season the liners are all lined up and they have it down to a science...plunk-swing, plunk-swing, etc-->someone's hooked every 10 mins at most