Fair points Jack, and I agree...I would take advantage of the guarantee, up to a certain point. For $200 waders, the way I use them, that point is approximately 2 years leak free for me...not counting obvious punctures that were my fault of course...I'd just fix those.

And when I'd say I'd rather have a prorated store credit than a new pair of waders if I did use the guarantee, that's just from the standpoint that if they didn't meet my expectations the first time, why would I want another pair? Bean makes plenty of nice stuff and I'd rather use the credit toward other items there and buy a new pair of waders elsewhere if that was the case.
