

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Brookies In The Endless Mountains

Re: Brookies In The Endless Mountains

Author: : Chaz

Date: : 2013/8/22 19:09:24

URL:

Quote:

pccray1231 wrote:

Quote:

Shhhh! You now have a relatively untouched resource for you and your close friends. Those are few and far between.

This is simply not true! I'm not telling him to blab, the one's I've found I keep away from the eyes of the public board too. But they are by no means few and far between. There's over 3000 wild trout streams in the state, and probably 1000 of them are pretty good, 900 or so of which fit his basic description. You could say they are scarce in some areas, and downright common in others. But that area falls in the latter category.

I'm with Pat on this, there are no secret streams in PA, only stream that are less fished than others.