

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Salmon River

Re: Salmon River

Author: : moon1284

Date: : 2013/8/23 19:13:22

URL:

the dsr is the nys version of beaver. barclay exploited the resource very similar to beaver, except he packs more people in and charges less. the dsr does very little if anything for the overall fishery, important spawning areas are in tribs and way upstream. charging people 50 dollars to catch fish stocked by the state is a joke. I wouldn't go there if it cost 5 bucks out of principle. there are other places in the river to get bright fish. with that being said, it is a great stretch of water and if you are driving 6 hours to fish what's another 50$?