Just an update- I still haven't decided! Classes start in a few days and fishing will have to go on hold for a short while...I am leaning towards wader bag bc of the fold out mat and the dry/wet storage. The only problem then is that i would have to keep it on shore and move it with my every time I moved down stream. Plus if i buy a backpack i would also have to buy a chest/sling pack. and I'm not sure what i would do with my wet waders/boots when using a backpack system.

EDIT: looking into the alice pack and i was pleasantly surprised. my only question would be does it have space for a rod tube (or two)

This is the one I'm looking at: <http://www.amazon.com/Green-Medium-ALICE-Pack-Straps/dp/B0002X9G6E>
