The best fishing is definitely below where Rattling creek dumps in. The upper creek is pretty ugly, loaded with chubs, but has a few pretty big fish in it. The AMD source actually starts above the headwaters at Porter Tunnel East of Tower City, but I believe there is a mitigation system in place. There are no AMD sources that I know of in the Rattling Creek drainage and it holds a decent quantity of natives and some holdovers, but it gets beat up pretty hard as far as harvest. Below the confluence there are some decent hatches, most notably caddis, Hendrickson, black stones, sulphurs and slate drakes.
