hello folks im a new member to the forum and have been fly fishing for several months now i've got most of the basics down and i even have learned to tie up a few flies...but one thing that kinda stumps me is what tippet material to use, or even what size leader would be best for me, i tend to use alot of wet flies and im also trying to learn how to fish the top of the water... i mainly use a 9 ft 6x or 7x leader with 6x tippet after i use a bit of the leader changing flies time to time...what do you recommend for a beginner like myself and what is the most logical tippet and leader sizes to use in this area?
