Is it a intermediate sink tip or a sink tip to get down fast. reason is you will be fishing shallow water (inches) for bones. Some times you have to make a delicate cast too. For bones a floating line is most used. Did you buy from a fly shop or big store, maybe you can trade for a regular salt water line (they make bonefish lines that work in freshwater) I would need more details on rod and where you are headed for bones to help anymore.
