The line you bought is a Class VI sink tip (listed as 7.3 ips) a real fast sinker. And at 300gr. it is probably overweight for your 8wt rod. Cast it and try it out.

Anyway, as Sandy posted, bone fishing on the flats is a shallow water thing. Casting that line you have would be like throwing a bowling ball into the water.

Definitely get yourself an 8wt floating line for Bones, preferable one made for warm climate SW applications.

Have a great trip! Pics for sure.
