Hi All,

I fished Saturday afternoon, and experienced a problem I haven't encountered yet. It seemed like on every other cast, my fly was getting hung up on either the leader, near the loop, or further up on my fly line, causing quite the bird's nest. I was using a Rio Powerflex 9' 6x leader and numerous dry flies, from size 16-20. I made sure my cast was good and really didn't do anything I don't normally do. Any idea what would cause this? Only thing changed was I don't normally use these leaders. I switched to a Rio 12' 6x, and it happened less but still happened...
