So when I put on a new leader I should always start adding tippet ? And what size tippet would I add onto a 5x leader? Does that still depend on the size of fly I am using like its listed above? I do nymph fish alot but towards the end of the summer I started using dries...I just wanna have good presentation and I know what I'm using now isn't the best from the information you guys gave me. Thanks again for the help!
