

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Yellow Breeches Creek (Allenberry) Cumberland County, 8/26/2013

Re: Yellow Breeches Creek (Allenberry) Cumberland County, 8/26/2013

Author: : jbrewley

Date: : 2013/8/27 8:09:35

URL:

Quote:

Dang, that's strange. The reg water on Breeches has treated me very well this summer but I haven't been on the Allenberry stretch for a couple weeks. Sunny days like today can certainly make trout seem to vanish..... but to not see any at all is unusual.

Question for ya, It has been a few years since I was on the YB (Allenberry) as I have said before. At the end of the C&R section, where it make a right hand turn, it seems more shallow then I remember. I use to be able to fish the left side (looking down stream), near the weeded bank and catch a few, but it is very low there now. I can also wade around the bend now, when in the past it was chest deep there. What has changed?