

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Umpqua Ledges 650 or Simms Headwaters Pro

Re: Umpqua Ledges 650 or Simms Headwaters Pro

Author: : elonDO

Date: : 2013/8/27 22:22:05

URL:

I second the Simms. I've had one for over a year now. I use it for steelhead & a lot for warm water fishing. It will definitely hold the gear you're looking at. I have a Fishpond Waterdance pack also, but I like the Simms a little better b/c it is sturdier, but also is more water resistant. I've looked at that Umpqua pack & it looks good. If you can hold out, the headwaters pack on closeout would be great in my opinion.