

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Help Protect PA's Wild Trout Streams

Re: Help Protect PA's Wild Trout Streams

Author: : BeastBrown

Date: : 2013/8/28 21:14:46

URL:

I did post about this at least a month or two ago. Part of the problem, unfortunately, is that forums are a for profit entity, and like to quarantine posts that are controversial out of the main discussion area. On fishing and hunting forums that is a bad idea. We are talking about clicking mice and placing a few phone calls here, a few eyeballs get momentum.

The hunting pa site, which has many more members than this one, is only talking about this now, because a long time member has posted it in the main forum. They make sure to keep most all gas related topics in the gas section which gets very little traffic, obviously, as compared to the main forum.