

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : My first fly rod caught trout

Re: My first fly rod caught trout

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2013/8/28 22:21:45

URL:

Very cool, and a native brookie to boot!

That's a very small stream, and the water is very low. Just a word of advice for those situations. Dry flies. It's much more fun! And probably more effective too in such a situation, as you can effectively fish from a little further away when you don't have to worry about negotiating underwater structure. The brookies are aggressive enough to hit it, the key is to not spook em.

And did I say, it's much more fun?

Good job!