The two waterways of choice will be the Swatty and the 'Stoga, both of which they are known to have been stocked in. The Swatty seems to be a more "robust" fishery for them, but I'm sure given the right recon, the Conestoga could produce as well.

As far as I can tell, the last stockings on the Conestoga occurred back in 2011 from the Cocalico Creek/Conestoga mouth to the Waterworks dam. The Swatty continues to receive shots of roughly 1500 fingerling tiger muskie stockings each year however.
