

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Help on Mayfly ID

Re: Help on Mayfly ID

Author: : afishinado

Date: : 2013/8/30 7:34:00

URL:

Quote:

sipe wrote:

Question not intended to be entirely smartass: would a BWO fly be the best match for both "olive" bugs listed by Pcray? Likewise would the same Cahill or sulfur fly be as effective for both bugs that are "bastardized" by the same common name?

Yes for both. You really don't need a pattern for each species or sometimes even family of insects. Just try to get the size pretty close to the naturals and have fun!